School Board rescinds vote on graduation day

o But decision probably comes too late for the Class of 1997

By ALISON ALOISIO

The SAD44 School Board Monday rescinded a June 10 vote that changed Telstar's 1997 graduation from Friday to Sunday. Graduation ceremonies, however, will still likely take place on Sunday.

Faced with a petition bearing the names of 44 of the 76 members of the Class of 1997 who objected to the change to Sunday, many board members felt they had acted without enough information on June 10.

A second petition protesting the change was circulated in the community. It garnered 152 signatures.

At the June 10 meeting, class member Jessie Wight and her mother, Project Graduation volunteer Gail Wight, had presented a petition containing the names of several class officers. They asked that graduation be changed from Friday evening to Sunday.

They argued sports playoff games often take place on Saturday, creating a dilemma for players who want to attend the Project Graduation party but still get enough rest for an upcoming game or competition.

Monday's petition was presented by class members Monica Rolfe, Stephanie Curley and Meghan Meisner.

They argued a Sunday afternoon graduation would mean traveling relatives would have to "pick up and leave" right after graduation, missing out on time with the graduates and making for late travel on Sunday night for some.

The majority of the board decided that the choice of a date properly belonged with the school administration, in consultation with students and parents.

But judging by comments by administrators at the Monday meeting, it is apparently too late to change back to Friday for next year, even with the rescinded vote.

"It's been announced officially that graduation will be on Sunday," principal Ted Davis told the board. "I'd say, at this point, try it and see what happens. The class members

Newry zoning changes leave couple's plans high and dry

By ALISON ALOISIO

It was a situation Newry Planning Board member Don Sandstrom described as "excruciating."

The board last week rejected David and Pauline Ouellette's proposal to build a two-story home on a Bear River lot and construct a water system from the Maine Municipal Association's pending ordinance that may prevent the couple from selling another lot as buildable.

The Ouellettes have bought three adjacent lots on Rivertank Road within the past several years, and built a house on one. They believed they could eventually sell another lot as buildable and build a two-story home there, even on the third.

"The MMA said no, we need to modify the current ordinance," he said. "They said the state was aware of the case here."

Two of the lots have river frontage of 150 feet each. They are considered non-buildable because the state and town ordinance now requires a minimum 200 foot frontage. They did conform with the ordinance in effect at the time they were established, in 1989.

The Ouellettes want to sell one of the lots. But they learned recently that state law and a town ordinance adopted two years later requires two adjacent non-conforming lots owned by the same person to be combined into one -- producing one non-buildable lot.

Planning Board chairman Joe Morris said that, typically, ordinances grandfather. But when he checked with the Maine Municipal Association, he learned that was not the case here.

"The MMA said no, we need to modify the current ordinance," he said. "They said the state was aware of the case here."

READY TO GO, BUT ...--Developer Heinie Merrill says all he needs to begin construction on the proposed Norway Savings Bank building in Bethel Station is for the Bethel Water District to sign off on the project. The Water District counters that Merrill owes the local utility thousands of dollars, including $19,000 for a filter needed to ensure an adequate supply of water for the project and other district customers.

Dispute with Water District stalls Bethel Station bank construction

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Developer Heinie Merrill says he is ready to go ahead and begin construction on the new Norway Savings Bank building at the corner of Bethel, but the Bethel Water District is refusing to allow the project to move forward.

The building was approved by the Bethel Planning Board in December, with few conditions, all but one of which -- a letter from the Water District -- has been met.

The developers, Bethel Station Limited Partnership (BSLP), have delayed construction on the latest Bethel Station building, because they needed to line up additional tenants in order to make the project financially viable.

Merrill says now that the additional tenants have now been found and he is ready to move ahead. The tenants, a construction company and an interior design firm, will be leasing office space.

Merrill said the leases call for the new building to be ready for occupancy by November.

District cites unmet commitments

But first BSLP has to convince the Bethel Water District to agree -- in writing -- that the building's plans for hooking up to the water system are acceptable, and that there is sufficient water available in

Proposal to replace MDOT signs will go to voters

By MICHAEL DANIELS

In now appears town voters will get to decide for themselves if the Bethel should replace the blue MDOT directional signs with a business signage system of its own.

In May a volunteer group studying the question recommended that the blue state signs be replaced with a townwide mix of welcome signs and directional kiosks.

The proposal was largely in response to concerns that the entryways to town are becoming clogged with a proliferation of MDOT signs, and that the problem is sure to worsen as the area continues to develop.

The Planning Board, however, tabled the initial proposal, citing primarily concerns with safety and fairness.

That vote meant that the question could not be put before voters at the annual Town Meeting in June.

But last week a revised proposal was submitted, one that sought to address all that the issue of fairness included in the proposal was now

Owner of semi-VW sign now says it's a trailer

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The owner of the semi-truck sign that has been the subject of a long-standing dispute between the town and developer Heinie Merrill has now agreed to change the sign to read "semi-trailer."

The sign, which has been a point of contention for nearly a year, is located on the side of a semi-truck owned by the developer.

The developer has been trying to get the town to change the sign to reflect the fact that the truck is a semi-trailer.

Merrill has argued that the sign it is, because it is a semi-truck.

REMEMBERING DON BROWN

To the Editor:

The Bethel Historical Society has lost a valued member with the death last week of Don Brown, who for more than 20 years was involved in many ways, copying old photos, taking photos of society events for the Bethel Citizen, working on street programs, sharing his extensive collection of photographs, serving as a trustee, and being among the most dedicated of members, rarely missing a monthly meeting.

My thoughts go back over the years. He and Arlene have been there for the society and the community in so many ways -- too numerous to list. One of my favorite times was the battle we fought to save the trees on lower Main Street and keep as much green space as possible. It was not an entirely successful struggle, but I remember Don being one of the strongest foes of those who wanted to cut all the trees and widen the street.

As his wife's eyesight failed, Don became the "eyes" for Arlene, helping her on a daily basis through the handicap of not being able to see well. He did all this with extraordinary patience and devotion. In a number of instances, Don read historical texts to Arlene to allow her to judge their accuracy. We are all in his debt for this invaluable assistance.

Despite my great respect for him, Don and I did not always agree. I well remember the time when as chairman of the Board of Selectmen he held me personally responsible for a decision of the board that he did not support so, as the expression goes, "he laid me out in lavender." Although generally a pleasant and affable soul, he was also known for his sarcasm, but I never held this quality against him even when I was on the receiving end. How could anyone hold for very long any resentment against one so incredibly helpful and useful to his community, neighbors, and family for so many of his 77 years?

In addition to the loss to his family and the community, one of the particular sadnesses I feel at Don's passing is the fact that he will not see Bethel through all its bicentennial celebrations. He loved the town deeply and no one was more loyal and dedicated in the initial stages of setting up the committee to plan for this observance. Part of the fun will be gone since we won't be able to watch Don's face light up absorbing all the exciting events still to come. He also won't be here to photograph upcoming parades and pageants, but I know his family will be there in his place as much as possible, attending to many details, maintaining his tradition of love of community and volunteer service. It is an important legacy and one for which they can be proud. His example should serve as an inspiration for all of us in the years to come.

PAGEANT NEEDS PLAYERS

To the Editor:

The Pageant needs Bethel people, both men and women, of all ages, to be Actors, A Ringers and Singers! It needs "Behind the scenes" workers, too!

The calendar says that this is 1996, the only year that the Town of Bethel will have its 200th birthday. When it is over, it is over. No more will there be the chance to have one's family documented as being in the picture at this time in history.

The Bethel Bicentennial Pageant is the place for anyone with a will to work, to get that chance. Starting the first week in July, until the performance Friday, Aug. 9, at Bingham Auditorium, the Pageant will be the works.

A very few "parts" require learning lines, but there are many "walk-and-tell-up-scenes" with no speaking needed. The rehearsal schedule will be done by scenes to keep time to a minimum. The scenes cover the entire 200 years. This means that costumes are needed, and we are asking participants to try to locate an appropriate costume. This will not keep you from volunteering to be in the show. Call 824-2444 or 824-2449 to sign up.

The chores will have a greater role in keeping the pageant moving along. All singers are wanted. They will not be needing to learn long, musical pieces, all songs are very popular during a particular time. The conductor is Linda Hulleyway Stroh, and she is a telephone. Please just appear at Crescent Park School at 7 p.m. on July 2 for an information kick-off meeting. Remember the Pageant is about Bethel, and it needs you. Come join the fun and have a great adventure.

CIVIL WAR ENCAMPMENT THANKS

To the Editor:

I wish to express deep gratitude to all individuals, merchants, and organizations whose contributions and assistance made our recent Civil War encampment a great success, not only for the bicentennial but also for the reenactors.

Throughout the weekend, I received from the reenactors nothing but the highest remarks about Bethel village, the enthusiasm of our residents, the friendliness and hospitality, and the obvious level of community pride. I was more than pleased to present Bethel to this group and was even more pleased to witness the manner in which they were received.

I have little doubt that as I attend other encampments this summer and fall, Bethel will be the standard by which all others are judged, and all of the above contributors receive my thanks for providing such a welcome.

It is my hope that all who visited found the encampment to be an enjoyable and enlightening addition to our bicentennial memories. Again, thank you.

CHAIR COMPANY BUILDING IS TORN DOWN—The former finishing house of the Bethel Chair Company, built in 1898, was torn down Friday. It was described by Bethel historian Randy Bennett as the oldest and most historic industrial structure in town. The Bethel Chair Company made reproductions of Shaker rockers. The business also built furniture that was purchased by the Ricker family and used in the Poland Spring and Samoset hotels. Bennett said of the building, "It was a major landmark. It's really sad that it's gone. It's a wonderful opportunity to restore the building lost." The building (shown here earlier in the century, behind the water tower to the right), was described as a liability by current owner Heinie Merrill, who said restoring it was out of the question. The building was on the site which Merrill has proposed for the new Bethel Post Office. The old Bethel Station is at left.

'REMOVE NOT THE ANCIENT LANDMARK'

To the Editor:

Many of us lost an old friend this week. Not in the form of a person, but the old chair factory building, 98 years old, demolished, burned and buried without much ceremony. It was one of those landmarks that defined Bethel for many of us, a simple, utilitarian, vernacular building, that always gave me pleasure admiring its unpretentious style and focusing on all its history from the days when it housed chairs sold to the Rickers at Poland Spring. It made Bethel unique, one of those buildings that gave us a sense of place. There were few like it left anywhere in Maine and its removal means that we are one more step closer to the homogenization of the built environment that will not allow us to know instantly where we are.

Admittedly, the building was in deteriorating condition and was nothing special in its construction. It probably had to come down as one that had outlived its usefulness. But I hope that the developer will keep it in mind as future plans are proposed. Can't something be designed that will revive its memory, something inspired by this landmark and its long connection with Bethel's commercial past? We keep hearing how this development will reflect the town's architectural tradition. Here is a golden opportunity to revive the building's simple beauty and provide ample space. Moreover, the developers may also be inspired by other structures that were once here, the old cedar mill and the diving sheds for example. These all gave Bethel a strong sense of place and it is within the power of these developers to be inspired by what was there before.

In Proverbs 22:28 is found "Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set." Saving architectural landmarks, finding alternative uses for historic structures, and/or producing replicas of old buildings are ways to carry out this biblical injunction. I hope the developers will hear this wisdom from the sacred book in mind in their future planning.

Water district

the system to meet the increased demand.

So far the Water District has refused, arguing that BSLP has not come up with the $19,000 it agreed to pay for a filter needed to increase the overall capacity of the Water District.

In a June 15 letter to Merrill, Water District superintendent Robert Saunders wrote that without the filter in place: "The district cannot provide a letter assuring adequate water supply for the Norway Savings Building, because the district's supply is currently over-committed."

The Water District also contends the BSLP owe for engineering work.

In an earlier (May 22) letter to Merrill, Saunders said the district trustees had unanimously adopted the following resolution: "The district is greatly dismayed and displeased that payment of bills relating to Bethel Station has been so long delayed. The superintendent is directed to minimize and further expand expenditure of district labor and capital, except as may be in the district's best interest, until such time as the Bethel Station project has paid all outstanding amounts due."

Merrill's side

But Merrill sees the situation quite a bit differently.

As to the availability of water, he said, A.E. Hodson (the consulting engineers hired to design and inspect public infrastructure work in the Bethel Station area) certified in a letter to the Bethel Planning Board that there is currently "sufficient flow and pressure available at (the site) to provide fire suppression even during peak demands of the system."

And the money for the filter is already in the hands of the Water District, Merrill contends, in the form of $20,000 that was escrowed with the district to cover the cost of 670 feet of 8-inch pipe on Cross Street. The escrow was to ensure the work would be paid for if the Eco-

Technic Development Agency grant funding for that phase of the project fell through.

Now, Merrill said, the Cross Street work is complete, the pipes have been tested, and the town has been assured the grant funding is available.

Town Manager Madeline Henley and Monday of the EDA grant. "We've got that money. It's just a matter of getting up the right political people to make the announcement."

But the Water District has said it wants a letter from the town before releasing the $20,000, and in April Town Manager Madeline Henley wrote Saunders saying that funding for the work had been confirmed.

The district has so far refused to release the money, citing unidentified "additional costs" that might be incurred.

According to John Head, chairman of the Water District trustees, the wording of Henley's letter was not strong enough to satisfy the district that its ratepayers were protected against any such overruns.

In May Saunders replied to Henley's memo, saying that A.E. Hodson had advised the district that all water related costs (to the town) are covered by the funding and that a "good margin for contingencies is included."

But, Saunders concluded: "Please note that the District is unable to accept responsibility for any additional costs. While I consider such costs unlikely, the Town and the Developer should have adequate provision to cover any such costs."

Henley said Tuesday that she had no immediate plans to write another letter, and she hoped an upcoming meeting among the developers, Water District and Public Utilities Commission would resolve the matter (see below).

Merrill also disputes some of the engineering bills, complaining that while BSLP is paying A.E. Hodson to inspect the public infrastructure work, Saunders is also telling the developers for the time he spent on the project.

Last year Saunders billed for 138 hours of his own time, at $40 per hour.

Merrill termed that "double dipping," since BSLP is a paying customer of the district.

The developer also claims the money allegedly spent on the project has been properly documented, and includes work outside the Bethel Station project. The work in question is to be covered by the EDA grant, Merrill said, but it is not a portion of the water system for which BSLP is responsible for treating any money.

Wish-list standards?

Adding to the controversy is the fact that the Bethel Water District has no written list of standards and specifications and has refused to provide one, Merrill said.

From his perspective, this has left Saunders free to make up specs as he goes along, and then demand the developers meet them.

"We're at the mercy of every thought that comes into his head in the middle of the night," Merrill complained. "He springs up the next morning, jumps in the trench and says 'I want that.'"

But district trustee Jack Brooks is quick to defend Saunders (who is in Toronto on business this week and could not be reached for comment).

"There hasn't been a single time when Bob and Heinie sat down together and Bob hasn't been able to document his decision, and be backed up by the PUC," Brooks said.

PUC meeting

In an attempt to resolve the deadlock, Merrill and Water District officials are scheduled to meet again July 3 with PUC staff.

Earlier PUC meetings resulted in apparent agreements, but over time the agreements deteriorated into disputes over who had agreed to what.

out. In preliminary investigations which the selectmen discussed Friday, it appears that the existing post office site could be made to serve as the site of a new post office, both in terms of necessary area for the building and for required parking space using shared parking space with the IGA and Ruthies."

The selectmen and Brooks will meet at 6 p.m. Monday in the Town Office meeting room. The meeting is open to the public.

The third Bethel Station building that could possibly be undertaken this construction season is a McDonald's, which would be located near the western end of the parkway.

Merrill said Tuesday that he is still in negotiations with the fast food chain, discussing design issues and protective covenants. He said he hoped to know by Monday if the project is a go.

Before they could be built, both proposed buildings -- the post office and McDonald's -- would require a letter of approval from the Bethel Water District.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The Dr. Moses Mason House Museum will open for its 23rd season on Tuesday, July 2. Hours will be from 1 to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday and by appointment (824-2908). Volunteer guides are always needed to help with tours. Anyone wishing to volunteer should call the Bethel Historical Society office or Judy Haskell (824-2724). There will be a volunteer orientation on Friday, June 28 at 2 p.m. in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Those interested in volunteering are cordially invited to attend.

Sponsors for the fourth annual Fourth of July community picnic, to be held on July 4 beginning about noon on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House and featuring a concert by the Portland Brass Quintet, are still needed. Since there are no longer any grants from the Maine Arts Commission for this project, the society is attempting to raise additional private funding to offset this loss. Already more than two thirds of the amount needed to support the brass band has been raised. Among the latest contributors are the Bethel Rotary Club, Mundt Allen American Legion Post, and Carolyn Nygren.

Those wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution in any amount are urged to send all donations to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217 (0012).

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on the Fourth of July at the West Bethel Union Church. The meeting will be preceded by a picnic on the church grounds beginning at 6 p.m. Those attending should bring a picnic lunch. Lemonade will be provided by the society. Following the picnic, the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and feature a brief presentation on the church's history to century old this year followed by a panel discussion on the Fourth of July in Bethel's past, part of the continuing focus on the town's history in this bicentennial year. Everyone is welcome to come for the picnic and stay for the program.

Special Town Meeting Thursday

UPTON--A special Town Meeting to finalize the school budget and consider a petition for recall of public officials is scheduled for Thursday, June 27 at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall. The school budget figure is approximately $61,000 and was prepared for sending two children to school in Errol, N.H., and the rest to SAD44, according to selectman Richard LeComte. The petition for recall was presented to selectmen earlier this month by Mike Lewitt.

Light turnout for NOVA meeting

BETHEL--Seven SAD44 voters turned out last week for an informational meeting on the proposed NOVA building project planned for Mountain Valley High School in Rumford. NOVA provides vocational education for area students, including those of SAD44. A straw vote regarding when to hold a referendum vote on the project itself was unanimous in favor of putting it on the November general election ballot.

Overlooked paperwork may cost town

GREENWOOD--Forms to reimburse the town for closing its landfill have been sitting in AVCOG files for nearly a year, and it may cost Greenwood money. The town has paid $13,000 so far to cover the old dump and clean out the ash pit. The project is 30 percent complete. The state has offered to reimburse towns 75 percent of their total expenses, said selectman Marie Bartlett, but is now running out of money for the program. Bartlett said she has checked repeatedly on AVCOG's progress on the application on behalf of the town, and had been told they were being worked on. She was told last week forms have been in a file since last July, and had been sent back to Greenwood. The selectmen have not seen them, however. The board plans to move quickly when they do receive the forms. Selectman Harry Swan estimated the final phase of the closing could cost an additional $50,000 to $75,000.

Special town meeting scheduled

WOODSTOCK--Voters will act on a three-article warrant at a special Town Meeting on July 2. Requests for appropriations include: $7,500 for well-drilling and the installation of a bathroom at the Whitman Memorial Library; $1,500 to buy seven-tenths of an acre of land behind the library for use in an expansion project; $500 for the cost of water testing at the roadside spring on Route 26. Money for the well and bathroom will come from the library expansion fund; the land purchase and water testing expenses from tree growth taxes. No additional money would have to be raised. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

Rabies confirmed in Auburn

AUBURN--A fox shot in Auburn last week tested positive for rabies, according to police. A number of Turner Street area residents had reported the animal was acting strangely for about a week, and that it had fought with domestic animals. A raccoon reportedly attacked a dog on Hotel Road last week as well. It, too, tested positive for rabies. Officials advised people to notify them if their pets or other animals are acting sick. Animal control officer Clifton Daigle said an alarming number of people he spoke with had not taken their pets to a veterinarian for rabies shots. "That's a big concern to me. We're going to get strict with that," he said.

Alcohol and boats deadly combination

ALEXANDRIA, Va.--There could be as many as 60 deaths on the nation's waterways over the Fourth of July weekend, and alcohol will be a factor in almost half of them according to Boat Owners Association of the United States. More people die in alcohol-related boating accidents over the fourth weekend than during any other weekend of the year. Forty-six states have boating while intoxicated (BWI) laws. Breathalyzers are now used widely to test boaters suspected of BWI and in some states, a conviction can also result in the loss of a driver's license.

Free FCC information available

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Maine residents can now phone the Federal Communications Commission toll-free at 1-888-322-8255, to get facts about telephone rates or charges on their bills, broadcast services, or to express an opinion about communication issues. Maine is one of the first three states in the FCC's launch of the new service. Internet users can also access the FCC's web site pages (<http://www.fcc.gov>) for headline updates of important commission issues, access to all the agency's bureaus and offices, and a daily digest of information. They can also respond to information on the web or pass a comment on to the FCC chairman or commissioners.

Ohio sulfur dioxide levels drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio--Ohio's air is getting cleaner -- and at an increasingly rapid rate. Sulfur dioxide pollution dropped 34 percent last year over 1994, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said in its annual report. While sulfur dioxide levels have dropped steadily in Ohio since the federal Clean Air Act was enacted two decades ago, last year's decline was the most dramatic. For healthy people sulfur dioxide can be a temporary irritant, according to Ann Page of the American Lung Association. "But the major health impacts are on population groups that are very susceptible to pollution effects -- conditions such as asthma, emphysema and allergies," she said. Sulfur dioxide also has been blamed for acid rain. Thomas Tucker, environmental supervisor in the Ohio EPA's air-quality modeling and planning unit, attributed the drop in sulfur dioxide to two sets of regulations that took effect in 1995. One set required utilities to cut sulfur dioxide, primarily by installing smokestack scrubbers to cut pollution, or to switch to coal with a low sulfur content. The other affected large manufacturers and heating plants that use coal. Acid rain has contributed to water quality problems in the Northeast.

Toy store cuts off customer

CONCORD, N.H.--Chris Whittemore turned his hobby of collecting sports figurines into a science. He knew what days the shipments would come to the Toys R Us store and what time they would unload the trucks. If that failed, the Franklin man has a network of friends to check the store for him in case a new figurine should arrive. It worked beautifully until the store said it had enough. "They refuse to sell to me anymore," Whittemore said. "They said the reason is: I bought too many items from their store in the past." Concord's Toys R Us put up a sign reading, "We reserve the right to limit quantities." That means Whittemore can't buy baseball action figurines for his son like he once could. Whittemore collects four-inch-tall plastic figurines, called Starting Lineups, which he expects to increase in value. Toys R Us has a policy that limits the amount of collectibles that customers can buy to one at a time. But Whittemore said the store didn't specify the limit, and until this week there was no "limit per customer" sign up in the store. Toys R Us stores nationwide have problems with rabid collectors, Downing said. The collectors deplete the stores' stock of collectibles before kids and more casual customers have a chance to shop for them.

WHOM part of station deal

PORLTAND--Five radio stations will change hands in a deal involving Fuller-Jeffrey Broadcasting of Portland and Barnstable Broadcasting of Newton, Mass. Barnstable will acquire KJY and KKSQ of Des Moines, Iowa. In return, Fuller-Jeffrey will get WHOM, which is licensed to Mount Washington, N.H., WCSO and WLPZ in Portland and an undisclosed amount of cash. Fuller-Jeffrey already owns WBLM in Portland, as well as WCYY and WCYI, which simulcast for statewide coverage in Maine. Fuller-Jeffrey CEO Robert F. Fuller said Monday the deal is part of his company's plan to focus its resources in the southern Maine region. The company is completing divestiture of its California stations and will relocate its main offices to Portland. With the completion of the latest purchases, Fuller-Jeffrey will own and operate nine radio stations in southern Maine and New Hampshire. The sale is expected to be completed by late summer.

From the Bethel Police log: Dog likes restaurant's food, music

At 10:45 p.m. on June 20 the owner of the Backstage Restaurant reported a dog had come into the restaurant and appeared to be very tired and hungry. He was given popcorn and soda. The owner was traced by police through the animal's tags, and was contacted about the dog's location. The dog appeared to enjoy the music at the restaurant and didn't want to go home.

Tuesday, June 18

At 10:15 a.m. the owner of Bethel Auto Sales reported that sometime during the night 12 tires had been slashed on four vehicles. Total damage: $494. The case is under investigation.

Wednesday, June 19

At 9 a.m. MDOT employees reported that when they went to clean the Route 2 rest area they found a sign had been cut down. They said it had been cut with a chain saw. The sign was valued at $50.

Friday, June 21

At 12:02 a.m. a subject pulled over to the side of the road after passing police. The vehicle had its high beams on. The officer spoke with the driver, who appeared to be intoxicated. He was advised of the severity of the violation. The vehicle was then pushed off the road and the operator was allowed to walk to a friend's house nearby.

At 9 p.m. police observed a subject who failed to stop for a stop sign on Main and Mechanic streets. A check showed the subject's license was under suspension for failure to pay a fine in another state. The driver, Matthew I. York of Bethel, was placed under arrest for operating after suspension. He was taken to the Oxford County Jail and held in lieu of bail.

Saturday, June 22

At 12:52 a.m. a Bethel resident reported her brother had been harassing her at the Backstage Restaurant. The complainant was very intoxicated, and there was no third-party witness. The officer advised her to contact police when she was sober, and a statement would be taken then. The complainant was loud and disorderly, and was warned for disorderly conduct.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations.

Zoning

of what it was doing (in adopting the law)."

Given that fact, most board members seemed of the opinion that the current Newry ordinance indicates the vacant nonconforming lot could not be sold as buildable. Still, they were hesitant to vote on it without something in writing from MMA.

Aloisio told the Ouellettes if the board ultimately defines the lot as not buildable, they would have the option of taking their case to the Board of Appeals.

Wrong copy of ordinance

To add to the Ouellette's woes, the Newry Town Office apparently gave them an incorrect version of town ordinances.

The copy they received was that of proposed revisions to the shoreland zoning ordinance, which the board is currently considering. The revisions are recommended by the state.

That copy contains a provision that could allow the lot to be sold as buildable.

The couple had given their copy to Bethel attorney Dan Reich for use in a legal opinion. Based on that version, Reich concluded the lot was buildable.

The Ouellettes only learned of the error at last Wednesday's board meeting, when Aloisio informed them of the mistake. They said they got the copy recently.

Board member Art Marshall said he believed the proposed revision to the combined lot ordinance indicates an intent by the state to address problems like the Ouellette's.

"It seems coincidental the very language proposed would allow the lot to become conforming," he said.

The revision would allow a house on the lot if it can support a waste disposal system and meet other dimension requirements.

The board voted to get the MMA opinion on the current ordinance in writing, as well as any information on the proposed revision.

Don Sandstrom urged the board to get on with its work leading to the town's adoption of the revisions to the shoreland zoning ordinance. "It's excruciating to have to face this (the buildable lot) decision," he said.

Zoned out

The Ouellette's situation went from bad to worse when they learned their application to build a two-unit home on their third, conforming lot will be stymied by a zoning change.

When they bought the third lot in 1995, they believed the area was zoned as limited residential. That would have allowed them to include a separate apartment as part of the home they are planning.

The area was zoned limited residential when the lots were established. But that changed in 1991, when re-zoning put the Ouellette's property into a resource protection area, which only allows for single housekeeping units.

Accordingly, the board voted to reject their plan.

David Ouellette said he had no quarrel with the board over the situation.

"We will have to regroup and see what alternatives we have," he said. "We were led to believe we could build on it. It was a misunderstanding in the purchase."

Steve Wight, from whom the Ouellettes purchased the lots, said he was not aware of the zoning change at the time of the purchase.

Ouellette said Tuesday he plans to take both issues to the Board of Appeals.

(The reporter is married to Planning Board chairman Joe Aloisio.)

had two opportunities to express their opinion at a class meeting, and in a letter that went home," he said.

The overall results of those surveys, done early this month, were mixed.

Supt. Ron Jenkins said he and Davis would make the final decision on graduation. "In this case, we're on the same page. It would be Sunday," he said.

The vote to rescind was 557-87, with Debbie Gilbert of Newry and Rick Mills of Andover opposed.

Fourth-grade MEA scores in

The district's fourth-graders are showing "continued growth" from year to year in scores on the Maine Educational Assessment test, in the words of Crescent Park School principal David Murphy.

Murphy presented this year's test results to the board Monday. The scores exceeded last year's in all subjects except writing and social studies, which were down 15 points each.

Compared to this year's statewide averages, the SAD44 students scored slightly lower in every subject, with the differences ranging between five and 15 points.

The scores follow. For each subject, the 1996 score is listed first, followed by the district's three-year cumulative average: reading, 270/255; writing, 270/275; math, 320/275; science, 285/245; social studies, 230/235; arts and humanities, 290/255; health, 270/240.

Murphy said work is particularly needed to develop an updated social studies curriculum for the district.

language covering waivers and amendments; removed from the earlier proposal was a map specifying where the new signs were to be located -- that decision would now be left to the town.

The revised version was approved 6-1 by the Planning Board last Wednesday, and on Monday the Board of Selectmen voted 3-2 (Chadbourne and Whitney opposed) to take the question to a public hearing, then to a special Town Meeting.

The public hearing is scheduled for July 10; the date for the Town Meeting is expected to be set at Monday evening's selectmen's meeting.

The Barn Dance on July 27 will be held at the Douglass Place from 7 to 10 p.m. Music will be provided by a four-piece band with a caller, and an old-time admission fee of 50 cents will be taken at the door, with larger donations gladly accepted. Refreshments will be provided.

Approximately 25 of the numbered special edition barn posters remain available, and are becoming less available each week. Anyone desiring this keepsake, please call Sally Taylor at 824-3170. The cost is $20. Standard, unnumbered posters are available at several local merchants and the Bethel Historical Society for just $10.

The call continues for male singers and/or actors for the History of Bethel pageant set for Friday, Aug. 9. Starting in July, rehearsals will begin in earnest. Volunteers of free choice or coercion should contact Nan Timberlake at 824-2234.

The Education Group is making final preparations for an exhibit of the history of Bethel Retail and Commerce activity. The display will be presented in the Mason Meeting Room of the Moses Mason House and will portray a layout of Main Street using a "What/when/what is" theme. It is hoped that the exhibit will be ready for the fourth of July.

The past weekend's Bike-a-thon for the St. Jude's Children's Hospital was a large success, raising over $500 for childhood cancer research. The 20-plus riders are to be congratulated for their effort, as well as Marilyn Swan and Bernice Caddigan for organizing the event.

A reminder that the fourth of July will bring to us the Children's Bicycle Parade and Pet Tricks Show. Cyclists are encouraged to display as much red, white, and blue as possible, and pet owners are reminded that their pets must be either leashed or caged. For more information on these events, please call Norma Salway, Brenda Wight, or Marilyn Swan.

Finally, congratulations are in order to all who made the June 10 Cancellation Day festivities a remarkable success. Much preparation was expended to ensure a proper observance of the actual date of our town birthday and was a job well done.

The next meeting of the Bicentennial Committee will be Thursday, July 18, at 7 p.m. at the home of Stanley Howe. All are invited to attend.

to court," he said. "I have a good corporate lawyer. He's been to Bethel and is aware of the situation," he said.

Double standard?

Whittier said the bus is symbolic of a larger issue -- the double standard he says the town uses in enforcing its sign ordinances.

"I'd like to have a discussion (with the board) of who is enforcing the sign ordinance, and how, and are they doing it fairly," he said.

He said some businesses have put out flags on their property, in addition to business signs, and have not been cited for them being signs. He told the board in April he would file complaints against some of the other businesses, but none have been received, according to planning assistant Nancy Schlieper.

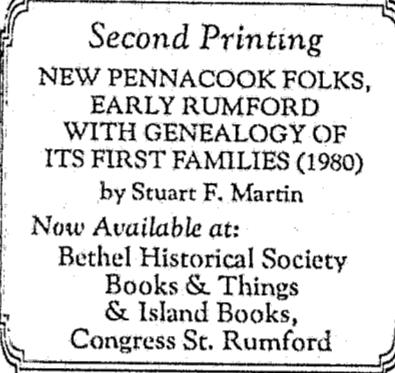

Whittier described the sign definition as nebulous, saying other towns in which he has done business have well-defined ordinances.

But town officials say Whittier is in clear violation of the Bethel ordinance.

Whittier acknowledged at an April Planning Board meeting that he put the bus up "to attract attention" -- seemingly defining it as a sign himself, said Schlieper.

As to how Bethel's definition compares with other towns, Schlieper said it follows the definition in state law "almost word-for-word."

Code Enforcement Officer Norm Putnam simply does not accept the bus as being a trailer.

Colista Morgan
One morning last week when I was out filling the bird feeders as the sun was just peeping over Noyes Mountain, a full mellow voice containing such delicate trills and liquid notes greeted me. From a stone near some trees, a wood thrush glanced around, nodded and seemed to say, "Hello, old friend, have you been waiting for me?"

Indeed I had!

Then from his rock and then from the woods he continued his song. His voice is hard to describe. It is so confluent, soft and rich, seeming to possess all the musical qualifications derived from Nature's self.

The hermit thrush, too, greets me at times. Its voice, too, has the same sweetness and purity of tone but not as powerful and has a ventriloquial effect.

At nesting time three or four bluish-green eggs are deposited in a nest in the forks or on horizontal boughs or bushes. The nest is made of grass, weeds, leaves and some mud. Mr. has little more to do than to sing to his mate.

Having glorified the Southland in winter, we welcome him here to give forth his notes that Nature has imparted to him. Like our northern mocking bird -- the catbird, the mellowness of his song with varied modulations are brilliant executions unrivaled in our home forests. I hope he stays.

Galen Carl Curtis has gone to work as a road supervisor at Van Buren. His mother Rena, wife Betty, sister Colista, and her husband accompanied him there to his place of work on Sunday, then returned.

Dorothy Betts was in North Conway to attend the graduation of one of the family. Lee Millett was at the Betts' home on the weekend.

The children in town are happy and ready for summer vacation.

David Holt was at the farm on Sunday. Sally stayed with her father, who is very ill at the hospital.

Dale and Marcia Mills of North Haven came to visit me on Sunday.

Rodney Westleigh and Lisa Stevenson were married June 15, 1996, at their home here in Greenwood City, as they stood on the bank of the river. They were accompanied by Pammy, her daughter, and Linwood, his brother, and Leonas Holt, who gave her away. Lloyd Waterhouse officiated. They left for a honeymoon in Camden after the service.

I must mention this. I had company and she looked out the window then exclaimed, "You have a squirrel on your flag!" I looked and sure enough he had climbed a post of the porch and leaped onto the flag and was climbing it hoping to jump to a feeder. He got wound up in it and never made the jump. What next??

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

Mrs. Dot Dore of Concord, N.H., spent some time here recently with her daughter and son-in-law, Betsy and Dick Clark.

Louise Tetley and yours truly were in Rumford at the Community House Center on Monday, June 17, to visit Amy and Roger Hanscom. Amy was wide awake and doing some conversing, but Roger took a little nap while we talked of boring things.

subjects...ha...! They both looked good and seemed to be pleased to see us. Louise's husband, Norman, took us there while he went downtown to see some friends.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent and Olive Anderson, members of the "Newry Bowling Gang," were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week. On the overall scores, Gil was high on the triples, but Karlene beat her by one pin on the singles. Of the "Righties," Doris was high on both the triples and singles. Gil had four spares and one strike, Karlene had three spares, Betsy had three spares and one strike, and Doris had one spare. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Happy Birthday to Sylvia Harrington! "Here is a warm and friendly wish for a day that's a perfect blend of birthday joy and gladness from start to the very end! Wishing you many more."

"The flush of youth soon passes from the face; The spells of fancy may pass from the mind; The form may lose its symmetry; Its grace, but time can claim no victory over the heart!"

Congratulations to the seven lucky recipients of a $50 campership from the Newry Recreation Committee. Winners were: Sarah Reed, Chelsea Marshall, Megan Trefethan, Erin Osgood, Anna Sysko, Wade Osgood, and Bill Marshall. Have a great time at camp!

Attention all those interested in the Junior Maine Guide's trip -- there will be an informational meeting tomorrow night, June 27, at 7 p.m. at the Raymond C. Foster Municipal Building. It is open to all Newry students between 12 and 15 years old. The trip will take place July 1, 2 and 3. For more information, call Maloosuc Guide Service at 824-2073 or Marci Baker at 824-2213.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

A 50th Wedding Anniversary was held at Ellie and Bill Newell's home here in South Woodstock last Saturday for Ted and Frances Braeden. About 50 persons came to give congratulations. The anniversary cake was made by Rachel Kuvaja. A nice assortment of refreshments were also served. Ted and Frances have three children, Ellie Newell, Linda Liimatta and Rick Braeden; five grandchildren; and one great-grandchild. A 25th Wedding Anniversary was also held Saturday for Phil and Terry Merrill at their home in West Paris. Around 75 attended. The wedding cake was made by Beverly Stevens. A large assortment of finger rolls and desserts were served. Friends and relatives from many surrounding towns attended, including their daughter Amy from Alabama and sister JoAnna Poland, also from Alabama. Also, many states were represented: Alabama, New York, Florida, Missouri, Vermont, and New Hampshire. Phil and Terry have two children, Andrew and Amy Merrill.

Leilani Bertrum is home visiting with her parents, Leon and Rosalie Poland, for a few days.

Rick Wing and Sally Smith paid us a visit on Sunday to bring gifts for Father's Day. Also, Kellie Hart, Sarah Hart, Jessie Hart and Lindsey Record came in the early evening for a Father's Day visit for Richard Wing.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the society is already planning its annual History Day for the first Saturday in August. Plan to attend. Don't forget there are many things the society has made to sell at the museum, like T-shirts, tote bags, note paper, postcards, etc. President Mary Billings put some fresh flowers in the museum recently. The museum has many kinds of exhibits for everyone to enjoy.

Kellie Hart is enjoying a couple of weeks on vacation from her custodian job at Woodstock Elementary School.

Congratulations to the Woodstock Town Road Crew and Fire Department for their recognition for the work done when the hazardous waste was spilled. Also, thanks to MDOT for their help at that time.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that when a situation cannot be altered, don't waste energy being dissatisfied."

North Woodstock

by
Shane Billings

There was a lot of company at the home of Rob and Norma Davis on Saturday, June 15. Among the guests were Crystal Jacques, Robyn McInnis, Chris and Ken, Sonja Davis, Louise Chapman, and Joelle Silver. I am sure I left someone out, but I neglected to get a complete list.

Also on Saturday, the Billings family attended the 40th anniversary party of Sterling and Irene Mills at the couple's home on Rumford Avenue. The party was thrown by Sterling and Irene's four children, including my mother, Tammy and her siblings, Jeff, Betsey and Tim. Even though the party was limited to family members, there were still more than 60 guests and a great time was enjoyed by all. The Parisians played in the evening, and Irene turned in a great rendition of the standard, "Sentimental Journey." Poems in tribute to the couple were written and read by Betsey and Carly Cummings and Shane Billings.

Congratulations to my dad, Malcolm Billings, on the purchase of his first road truck.

Jason Billings is at Boys' State in Castine for the week.

I have talked to several of my friends from college this week, because I am too lazy to write them letters.

Actually, that's all the news I've gathered this week, so I'll sign off for now. I hope you all enjoyed Bridget's column last week, and she'll be back again soon.

Songo Pond

by Alice Kimball

Our deepest sympathy to the family of Donald S. Brown.

The annual business meeting of the Songo Cemetery Association will be held here Sunday evening at 7 p.m., the 30th of June.

Today is the first day of summer, but it's foggy, rainy and cool. School is done until late August, so drivers be extra aware of the children playing outside.

Callers here on Monday were the Home Health nurse and Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover.

Mrs. Ethel Herr arrived last night at the Herr cottage.

If you don't get everything you want, think of the things you don't yet that you don't want.

Upton

by
Amy Geiling
The new campground is open in Cambridge,
N.H. It's called
Bull Moose

and offers 20 remote tent sites with fire rings and picnic tables, indoor showers and bathrooms. We plan to remodel the existing lodge for fall and winter accommodations.

For those unfamiliar with Cambridge, it's an unincorporated township on the New Hampshire/Maine state line. Bull Moose Campground is only eight-tenths of a mile from the Umbagog Lake Boat Launch. For further information, call the campground at 603-482-3856 or the Upton Trading Post at 207-533-2411. For further information on the area, call Umbagog Area Chamber of Commerce at 603-482-3906.

Vi and Ray Bernier had a cookout for Father's Day which included guests John and Avis Arata, Carl, Shirley and Kelly Arata of Winthrop; Joyce, Billy, and Karen Perry of Gardiner; Mike Morton of Andover; and Gloria Morton of Rumford.

Also, Frank and Gert Pooler were at their camp for a few days.

The lupines are very beautiful this year. Take time to enjoy their beauty; they'll be gone before we know it.

Trivia time: Staying with the campground theme -- did you know that the South Arm Campground, located on Lower Richardson Lake, was first called White Rock Campground in 1965? It was the first facility of its kind to operate in Maine's privately-owned commercial forest," as stated in "The Richardson Lakes" by Herbert P. Shirreffs.

The school budget/Upton Town Meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 27.

Milton Barker is at home now after being in the hospital in Massachusetts and having surgery.

Nancy Rogers from Connecticut called on her aunt Frances Grant one day recently.

Dick and Marilyn Jones from Norway and Wanda and Zachary Ryerson from Oxford are at home after traveling to South Carolina to visit Vicki McDonald and to attend the graduation of Chuck McDonald from Indian Land High School, Fort Mill, S.C.

Our sympathies and prayers go out to the family of Lee Lord of North Waterford, who passed away last week.

Barry Andrews has been working for Albert E. Nelson, Sr. the past week.

We had our first "mess" of fresh peas on June 18, and I can't begin to tell you how good they were. It reminded me of the good old days on the farm, and now the fresh strawberries are ready to pick.

On Saturday, June 29, the East Stoneham Church Thrift Shop will offer a $1-a-bag sale. This always goes over good. Also, the bake table will have baked goods for sale. Come on over and see what we have. I bought some teaspoons and a Tupperware container last week for a small amount. It's a good way to save and for a good cause. Also, there's most always diabetic food on the bake sale table.

Sunday, we attended grandson Troy's graduation from Fryeburg Academy. It was a good day in every way. There were 109 graduates. David Rohde, a Fryeburg graduate of 1985 and a Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist of 1996, addressed the class of '96, telling the graduates that they would all achieve more things than they could imagine, and to trust themselves and their instincts, to take risks, but only calculated ones, and to please be careful. Charles Ellery Lawrence was one of the class speakers, also.

Carole and Albert Nelson Jr. had a family cookout at their home Sunday evening with 17 family members and friends attending.

Stella Johnson from Beltsville, Md., is visiting with Ralph and Harriett Brown for awhile and visiting with relatives and friends in the area.

Howdy friends. Well I'm not a father, but my Father's Day present was a trip to the hospital

Sunday evening.

All had gone well and we were enjoying TV in the evening when I suddenly was overcome and went unconscious for a few minutes. It was a trying time for Peggy, but she called the ambulance and they were here in a few minutes. At the hospital it was decided that I had some kind of seizure. I'm now on medication to help prevent another such seizure.

There will not be a Grange meeting at West Paris Grange on July 4.

There will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on July 6, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra.

Franklin Grange will meet on July 1, with a patriotic program planned.

Oxford Pomona Grange will meet with Norway Grange on July 2. This will be a Community Service Night.

The Lovejoy family spent the weekend at their camp on North Pond.

Peggy and I have been working hard trying to get our gardens all established, and I finished my planting Sunday forenoon. Now it's fight the bugs and varmints. A woodchuck made his appearance known last Tuesday morning, but we haven't seen him since then and hope we don't see him again.

Peggy and Doc Merrill attended the Musical Supper at the Locke Mills Legion Hall last Tuesday.

Card of Thanks

Donald S. Brown, 77, of Chapman Street, Bethel, died Thursday afternoon, June 20, 1996, at his residence, after an extended illness.

He was born in Bethel on April 25, 1919, son of the late Carl L. and Ruth (Mason) Brown, attended the South Bethel School, Bethel Grammar School, and graduated from Gould Academy with the class of 1938. He was a lifelong resident of Bethel, and as a junior in high school gave the Gettysburg Address at the Memorial Day program in Bethel in 1937.

Following his graduation from Gould, he worked with his father at the "Bethel Citizen," and for the J.E. Davis Co., until he was drafted into the U.S. Army, in 1941. He spent most of his 51 months overseas in such places as Papua, New Guinea, the Northern Solomons, Guadalcanal, and the New Georgia Island. On Oct. 26, 1942, his troop ship, the S.S. Coolidge, sank in the harbor of Espiritu Santo, after striking two American mines.

On Dec. 26, 1944, while on rotation, he married Arlene Maerice Greenleaf, daughter of Dr. Sherman and Mable (Stevens) Greenleaf, at Bethel.

Following his discharge from the Army in 1945, he attended the New York Institute of Photography. He and his wife operated the Don Brown Studio in Bethel, until the early 1950s, when he joined the family printing business, at the Citizen.

Their daughter, Danna Eileen, was born Dec. 18, 1951, and their son, Kurt Greenleaf, was born Sept. 17, 1959.

Mr. Brown worked as a printer and photographer for the paper until his retirement in 1984. For nearly a quarter of a century, he delivered the "Lewiston Daily Sun" from Bethel to Berlin, N.H.

Since his retirement, he and Arlene have enjoyed trips to Florida, Alabama, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D.C., as well as visits with family and friends in Vermont and Rhode Island. He also continued his interest in photography, occasionally helping his son Kurt with black and white copying for his Windham studio, and copying older historical photos for area residents.

Mr. Brown was a member of the Bethel Methodist Church, Post 81, Mundt-Allen American Legion, Bethel, a former member of I.O.O.F. of Bethel, and a current member of the Odd Fellows of Maine. He held membership in the Professional Photographers of America and the Maine Professional Photographers Association. For many years he was the local area representative for the Salvation Army, a position his father also held for many years. He was an honorary and life member of the Bethel Historical Society and over the years had donated many photographs to that organization and was currently serving on the Bethel Bicentennial Steering Committee.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his daughter, Danna E. Nickerson and her husband George of Bethel; a son, Kurt G. and his wife Tammy of Windham; four brothers, Edwin, Stanley, Irving and John, all of Bethel; a granddaughter, Kate Riley Nickerson, also of Bethel; and many nieces, nephews and cousins. He was predeceased by a brother, Robert, in 1929.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, June 23, at the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Bethel. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery, Bethel. Friends who wish may make memorial donations in Don's memory to Androscoggin Home Health, 15 Strawberry Avenue, Lewiston, ME 04240.
